Among the hills of Northern Dutchess County, on the Albany Post Road, in what many travelers have called one of the most picturesque sections of New York State, Rhinebeck is located, high above the Hudson River and opposite the famous Catskill Mountains.

Accessibility: It is the ease with which Rhinebeck may be reached that adds to its attractiveness. Within a few hours' ride by motor on State Highway from New York City, or by train on the New York Central or West Shore R. R., a sail up the Hudson River on the Hudson River Day Line or Saugerties Steamboat.

The scenic beauty and well kept estates in and around Rhinebeck add to its popularity as an ideal place in which to spend your summer vacation.

A day or week spent among the wooded hills and near the numerous lakes surrounding Rhinebeck will be an experience unique in any life. Here one may enjoy all the pleasures of "roughing it" and only a gunshot away find all the pleasures and comforts of a modern home.

Nature lovers may here have solitude amid surroundings little changed since the days when the Indian was the only inhabitant of the country. For Rhinebeck is situated in a section of the State which has much that is of historical interest for its background, a country of traditions and thrills.

To those who would follow in the footsteps of Isaac Walton, there is fishing in season, many lakes and streams having been stocked with trout, pickerel, bass, perch and other fresh water fish.

A journey over the snow-covered hills in winter on snowshoes or skiis would be an experience well worth trying by one who loves "the great open spaces" in that season.

Come to Rhinebeck in the Spring when nature is most enticing in her loveliness. Come in the summer when she offers relief from the heat and congestion of the city. Find happiness and pleasure here in the Fall and stay throughout the Winter season when the activities of the village seem at their very height.

RHINEBECK THE VIOLET TOWN

Few towns are as favored industriously as is Rhinebeck. The industry that supports it is important, unique, employs many hands, and yet does not spoil the village with unsightly factories. Rhinebeck is THE Violet town of the United States and as such has been known for many years.

For the information of those who are interested in Rhinebeck a short resume of the history, importance and uniqueness of Violet Growing is presented here.

History:

The Violet industry had its beginnings in a commercial way as far back as 1875 when the then rare flower was grown in cold frames in Rockland County, N. Y. By 1885 the growing of Violets as a definite industry was established in Poughkeepsie and by 1888 its beginnings were seen in Rhinebeck. As grower after grower erected houses and gathered in the "shekels" the raising of Violets became almost a fever until in 1908 there were 136 separate establishments growing Violets and employing from one to five hands.

Overproduction was the natural result and from that date on for ten years the growers dropped out one by one until today there are barely 75 growers in the section embracing Rhinebeck and Red Hook. It is felt, however, that the Violet is again coming into the ascendency, and while none of the growers are getting rich today, it is possible by hard work, good fortune and economy to make a fair living.

Importance:

From the facts stated it will be obvious that the industry is very important to the village. It is next to impossible to estimate the number of Violets shipped in any one year but some idea may be gained when it is said that one grower alone at Easter ships between 600 000 and 1,250,000 blooms.

The Rhinebeck Violets go to every state in the Union east of the Mississippi and sometimes farther. Many of the flowers go first to the big distributing points like Chicago and Baltimore and New York, while a large share are shipped directly to the retail florists in the thousands of cities.

Uniqueness:

The question is often asked as to why the Violet grows better in Rhinebeck than elsewhere but this is hard to answer. The most experienced grower would hardly attempt to say but it is evident that there is some condition of climate and soil combined, that is the cause. The variety generally grown is the fragrant double blue sort known as "Marie Louise" which is superior in size, vigor and keeping qualities to any others. New sorts of single and semi-double varieties have recently been introduced from England but have not yet been accepted by the growers as being better commercial Violets. It is most unfortunate for the visitors to Rhinebeck that the summer time is not the time for picking Violets but a trip here in February and March would be well worth while to see the houses a mass of color and to smell the fragrance on a bright day that fairly pervades the air for miles around the village.

This is one of the oldest Methodist churches of the Hudson Valley. The present attractive church is the fourth edifice of this historic and influential society, and was dedicated on February 14, 1900. Mrs. Frank Rikert, its organist and chorister, has the longest continuous record of service of any organist and chorister in the village. and possibly in the county. Mr. Elmer Coon is now serving for the thirty-ninth year as Superintendent of the Sunday school.

The Reformed Church Rhinebeck, N. Y.

Founded 1731

The Rhinebeck Reformed Church, mother of churches in our village, was founded in the year 1731. The original church stood on the ground which is occupied by the present edifice. That parcel of ground together with a tract of about forty acres was given to the church by the original patentee, Col. Henry Beekman.

His daughter, Margaret, who married the illustrious Robert Livingston, gave to the nation ten stout hearted nation builders. them and theirs this congregation included Governor Morgan Lewis, the father of the public school system, Robert Livingston, the first chancellor of the state, administrator of the oath of office to President Washington and negotiator of the Louisiana Purchase; Edward Livingston, Minister to France and Secretary of State; Mrs. Tillotson, noted for philanthropies; Mrs. Montgomery, wife of the general who led the charge at Quebec and fell there: Colonel Henry Beekman Livingston and General John Armstrong, Secretary of War.

Many other notables have left an air of historic charm and devout consecration about the old church. There is a hearty welcome for any who may wish to worship under the inspiration of great associations. Services: Morning worship 11.00 A. M.; Evening service, 7.30 P. M.; Sunday school 10.00 A. M.
